

Fall semester will bring ROTC instruction in basic, advanced programs for students

Instruction in the new Air ROTC unit at OU is scheduled to begin with the fall, 1951 semester.

Freshmen and sophomores who sign up for the course will enter as basic students. The two year basic course is considered by the university as lower division work. Upon completion of the basic study curriculum, the student may apply for admission into the advanced two-year program.

Veterans who have active service and former high school ROTC members may enter specific qualifications checked at the time of admission into the program.

Basic courses

Students in basic will attend class three hours per week per semester and receive instruction in the following: leadership, drill, and Exercise of Command; Military Organization and Policy; National Defense Act and ROTC; Evolution of Warfare, Maps, and Aerial Photography; Military Psychology and Personnel Management; First Aid and Hygiene; Geographical Foundations of National Power; Military Problems of the United States; and Military Mobilization and Demobilization.

Second year students

As second year basic students, an Air ROTC member will study Aerodynamics, Weather and Navigation, Applied Air Power, including types of military aircraft, uses of military aircraft, guided missiles, radar, and strategic employment of air power.

Uniforms

Complete uniforms including cap, pants, blouse, shirts, overcoat, and shoes will be loaned to the student while he is pursuing the Air ROTC study. The uniforms can be worn at any time, but must be worn on certain occasions as designated by the Professor of Air Science and Tactics.

An Air Force Supply team is scheduled to arrive at OU this week. The initial supplies will arrive on campus about June 15. Personnel to man the Omaha U wing will be named within the next two months.

Class Day opens senior events tomorrow at 11

Denver U chancellor will address grads at Commencement exercises on June 4

Caps and gowns will fill OU's halls tomorrow as the university's graduating students celebrate Senior Class day.

KWOU will stay on air through summer session

OU's campus radio station, KWOU, will continue operation through July 14, according to Bruce Linton, director of radio at the university.

The station, which may be picked up anywhere on the campus at 550 on the dial, will broadcast for the benefit of students attending the first five weeks of summer school.

"The Mirror," a student dramatic presentation, will be one of the shows scheduled for the summer program. "The Mirror" production, which was taped several weeks ago by radio lab students, will also be aired on a regular city station. Date and station for the program will be announced at a later date.

After two broadcasting days, KWOU has seen the usual amount of trouble for "green" radio stations, according to Linton. Unsatisfactory pickup from the Student Center is among a few of the things OU broadcasters will iron out in the near future.

Wendell art exhibition displayed at Joslyn

An exhibition of paintings by Richard Wendell, instructor of art at the university, opened at Joslyn Art Museum last week. The exhibition will be open to the public until June 10.

One of the paintings, "Dream World," is just back from the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. Title for the New York exhibition was "American Painting Today - 1950."

Wendell has two other paintings at Joslyn, one of which is an egg tempera and gold leaf work named "Invention." The other is a 4 by 7 foot canvas, completed especially for the exhibition, entitled "Infinity."

In June, Wendell will return to his home in New York to reopen his studio and continue painting.

The all-day celebration will be highlighted by an 11 a. m. program on the front steps of the university. Robed seniors will meet at 10:45 at the east door. The procession will then move outside.

Program

Included in the morning program are: National Anthem, University Band; Welcome, Master of Ceremonies Charles Anderson; Class History, John Madden; Class Gift Presentation, President Willis Brown; Acceptance, Dr. Milo Bail; Presentation of Awards, Deans Mrs. Mary Padou Young and John W. Lucas, and the Tree Ceremony, John Peace.

In order that everyone may attend the program, 11 a. m. classes will be excused. Following the ceremony all seniors will eat lunch together in the east cafeteria, which is reserved from 11:45 to 12:45. Senior Day chairman is Robert Jones.

Commencement

Chancellor Albert C. Jacobs of the University of Denver will speak at Omaha, U's forty-second Commencement June 4. The program is scheduled for 5 p. m. in the Stadium.

Chancellor Jacobs received

All seniors who have made arrangements to use caps and gowns for Senior Day may pick them up in the bookstore this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

his AB at the University of Michigan in 1921 and his BA at Oxford University in 1923. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he has authored several books.

Baccalaureate

Sunday, June 3, is the day scheduled for the Baccalaureate Convocation. The service will be held at 5 p. m. in the Stadium.

Immediately following Baccalaureate a reception will be held for graduating seniors and their parents. Sponsored by the Faculty Women's Club, the reception will be held in the faculty clubroom.

Banquet, dance

Reservations for the Senior Class banquet and dance June 1 should be made now with Banquet Chairman Tom Townsend. The 6:30 dinner is for graduating seniors only. Guests are welcome at the dance.

Zeta Tau Alpha, Theta Chi take honors in Campus Sing

More than 300 students, faculty and friends of OU turned out Thursday evening to hear Zeta Tau Alpha and Theta Chi win the first annual Campus-Sing.

Highlight of the evening was tapping of six junior women for Waokiya and 13 junior men for Omicron Delta Kappa, senior leadership groups and sponsors of the Sing.

The program began with five women's groups competing. Each group sang one song of its own choice and "You'll Never Walk Alone." Judging was based on the latter song.

Waokiya taps six

After the women's competition, new members of Waokiya were tapped. They are Patricia Doyle, Doris Hanson, Nancy Hileman, Nancy Jones, Judy Swafford, and June Williams.

Sally Step, president of the group, was in charge of the program during the women's tapping.

The men's organization sang "The Halls of Ivy" and one song of their own choice.

Thirteen men tapped for ODK include Donald Badger, John Baldwin, Jim Daley, Berkley Forsythe, Stanley Hagstrom, Roland Klopfeisch, George Marling, Fred Pisasale, Gerald Roitstein, Paul Saltzman, Ralph Selby, Herbert Sklener and Ben Tobias.

Awards

Names of the winning groups will be engraved on separate plaques which will hang in the Dean of Students office.

Greek Social Calendar Due tomorrow

Social chairmen of all Greek organizations must turn in to the Deans' office tentative dates of dances for next year by 1 p. m. tomorrow.

The tentative list will enable the deans to schedule major activities for next year.

Friday is deadline for campaign history

Friday will be the last day for students, alumni, and faculty members to submit reports of their experiences during the mill levy campaign. All reports should be turned into The Gateway office on or before Friday.

Reports emphasized unusual experiences. Each report may be written in the worker's own style, and his name should be signed at the end. Reports should cover one side of a single sheet of white 8½-by-11 inch typing paper.

The reports may be handwritten in ink or typewritten either in single or double spaced lines. Sheets should have wide margins, especially at the left side of the sheet to allow for trimming and binding. They should be turned in unfolded.

Davison outlines business cycle at retail convention

Hurford H. Davison, head of the Department of Retailing at OU, spoke at the Midwestern Retail Coal Association Convention yesterday.

His topic was "Current Business Conditions and the Business Cycle." The convention met at the Fontenelle Hotel for a two-day session.

Induction day for college men postponed to Aug. 20; students' standings, test scores determine draftees Induction of all college men has been postponed until Aug. 20, 1951.

This order from the Selective Service Commission to all draft boards is effective immediately. The postponement will give draft boards the necessary time to evaluate all Selective Service Deferment exam scores.

Upon receiving these scores in addition to the affidavits from the respective colleges

Application deadline for the Selective Service College Qualification Tests has been extended to Friday, May 25. All applications must be in the hands of Educational Testing Service by that date.

This applies to the July 12 date for those students whose religious beliefs prevent their taking the test on a Saturday. The deadline also applies to the June 16 and June 30 testings.

Applications are no longer being processed for the May 26 administration of the test and no further tickets can be issued for that date.

concerning the students' standing, local draft boards will re-classify all eligible draftees.

In another section of the same memorandum was a notice that students originally scheduled for induction upon completion of the present school term are given an extra 30-day extension to enlist in the branch of their choice, or to obtain work in a critical, essential war industry.

Summer jobs plentiful now

So you want a summer job. Something that pays two dollars an hour, starting at 11 a. m. till 12 noon with an hour off for lunch. The Placement office reports a present shortage of this calibre of employment but the university "job-finders" have many more summer duties to be filled by interested students.

Men have a much bigger selection of jobs than women do. Labor jobs are particularly plentiful this year, with a good salary to spend each month.

Local bakeries, creameries, awning companies and grocery stores are looking for men. A relief route salesman for a local bakery can make $85 a week. For those men who didn't crack the books this year you can tote a few at the libraries around town as stackers.

Go to Alaska!

An engineering company is looking for adventuresome students who will work as "rod-men" in places like Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Alaska. The Alaska job pays $650 a month a good deal for someone who wants to get away from it all.

For someone who likes to travel, is over 21 years old, has a pleasant voice and disposition and who can drive a bus there's a job waiting for you in sight-seeing service. Drive a sight-seeing bus for $250 a month plus traveling expenses.

There are other numerous positions to be had around town—lab jobs, filling stations, retail selling and at the drive-ins and concession stands in the theaters.

Learn to type

The shortage of temporary jobs for women was aptly expressed by Dr. Woods, Director of the University Placement Service, "For every man who can hew wood, tote sacks, and lift boxes, there's only one girl who can type." Typing is one of the prime requisites of a summer job for a woman. According to the Placement office there's a terrific shortage of office help.

"The office jobs are just beginning to trickle in," said Mrs. Engle in the Placement Office. "As soon as the office people realize that they are going to get permanent help they will place the call for temporary workers."

For Home Ec students there is a demonstration job open paying $175 a month. The girl will demonstrate ironers mainly. Retail sales stores are calling for selling personnel now, but there are very few openings. And then there are drive-ins, where a woman can get a waiting job.

Get on the stick!

These are but a few of the jobs that are offered through the Placement office. But being referred to a business establishment as a candidate for a position is not a guarantee of a job. "It is those students who get down to the places early and who have something to sell, who get the jobs," maintains Mr. Woods.

"When you go to look for a position, make your application, and have an interview, act like a gentleman or a lady," Mr. Woods said. Be neat and courteous, wear a suit, polish your shoes, and wear a hat.

Personal profile

Another item which, if done well, is a sure-fire recommendation to a prospective employer is a Personal Profile. This is a pamphlet made up by you, consisting of your background from A to Z.

Mr. Woods has a file of good ones and had ones for you to look at for sample copies. The profile usually contains your picture, vital statistics, names of your parents, high school and college education and your curricular and extra-curricular activities in high school and college.

Your prospective employer will want to know your vocational background, and the grades you received in the courses you took in college. A list of references is always wanted.

So if you want a summer job, go in to the Placement Office. Maybe they'll have something for you. If not, Mr. Woods and Mrs. Engle can give you some tips on how to approach an employer so that you can receive some consideration from him.

Well, for me and a couple of others the four years of incarceration end this June 5. Four years! Gosh, it seems like only three and a half since the beanie days, the days that we thought that Dean Harry was God's gift to suffering students.

And now, just like the old soldier, we're going out to make darn nuisances of ourselves somewhere else. There are a lot of things I'll miss:

The wonderful feeling when you manage to get all your classes after ten.

Watching the girls' gym class exercise.

The reassuring noise and confusion in the Shack.

Sleeping through economics lecture.

Hundreds of nice people.

And, in the same line, there are a lot of things I'll never miss:

Night classes, eight o'clock classes.

Watching the boys' gym exercise.

The cafeteria's coffee, creamed tuna and rubarb pie (agh).

Listening while some professor peels his brain.

Hundreds of revolting people.

And definitely, definitely, definitely, I will not miss the Hellbox.

I saw quite an interesting program on TV last Friday: the Quiz Kids. It was really a demonstration of something or the other.

These fuzzy-chinned Einsteins had the answer for everything: astronomy (so elementary they let a five-year-old knock it off), literature, history (what spy hid messages in his shoes?), politics, nothing could stump them.

Then somehow they got on the topic of baseball and practically recited the record book from memory.

Pretty silly? Heck, no. I'm doing the same thing in a couple of courses right now. I'm so darn full of facts that it seems perfectly reasonable that Jackie Robinson's run-batted-in standing should be as worthwhile to remember as Shakespeare's works-batted-out.

And it is too, if you're going to be a success on quiz programs.

Well, I guess that about winds things up for the season. Thanks to everyone who at some time said they liked the column, and back to those who didn't. Now, if you'll excuse me, I'll go out and put the Hellbox in the hellbox.

Students label test to suit themselves

At the University of Kansas some students have a strange conception of what the draft deferment test is. The Registrar's office reports that one student asked for "papers for the discharge test," and another requested "the application for draft dodgers."

On the other hand there was the boy who came in and said, "Can you think of any excuse for me to take the selective service test? I'm in the National Guard and my unit has been alerted."

—Photos and art work by Dick Keim and Tuck Moore.

This was the situation in OU's parking lot one month ago. To remedy it, Jack Adwers called in a 'traffic expert' to help mark the lot so that a maximum number of cars could be parked and still have room to get in and out.

There are 83 parking stalls which allows more cars than previously. Mr. Adwers also painted a sign asking students to park between lines, and not in the cross walk.

"However the arrangement, which is the best from the parking standpoint receives no co-operation from student", remarked Adwers.

After the first ticket scare the students are back to their old tricks again. In the picture, the car labeled no. 3 did not receive a ticket although it was illegally parked too.

Last year, 299,500 pedestrians were injured in the United States.

Indian '9' wins two games, ties one on successful trip

Morningside again proves soft touch

OU's baseball team found Morningside a soft touch for the second time this season as they dumped the Maroons 14-0 Friday afternoon. It was the first game of a day-night, 160 mile double-header for the Indians.

In the first meeting between the two teams, the Indians walked off with a 9-2 conquest. Friday's game was even easier.

The Omaha batters climbed on three Maroon hurlers for a total of 14 hits, and made them count for as many runs. Nine of the fifteen OU players garnered hits.

And the Maroons helped the Omaha cause along by issuing 15 walks. This led to such box score markings as Bill Duffack's no hits in one official time up, but three runs scored.

Don Claussen and Andy Marinkovich led the Omaha attack with three hits apiece. Claussen smashed three consecutive doubles, and Marinkovich pulled out two doubles and a single.

Rookie Lee Nelson looked good, with a single and double in four trips to the dish. He also scored twice.

OU pitcher Lynn Hooten blanked the Maroons on six hits, all singles. He walked only one and fanned eight. His mastery is demonstrated by the fact that he assisted on four put-outs.

The losing Morningside pitcher was Jerry Lawson, former Omaha Tech high baseball and football ace. He allowed the Indians seven hits and six runs in a little over three innings. The two relievers had little better luck against the Omaha power.

Tennis squad finishes season with one of most outstanding records

by Dick Kimball

Although Omaha is usually strong in spring sports, one of the most consistently winning teams is the tennis squad. One look in the records will bring out this point, for in the past three years Coach George Pritchard's netmen have played 38 matches, winning an overwhelming total of 28, tying one, and losing only four. To make it even more incredible, the Indians have been up against such tough competition as Washburn, Drake, Arkansas, and Tulsa University.

In this regular season's play, the Red and Black copped nine out of their ten matches, losing only a very close decision to Washburn. Before the regular season opened, though, the Indians took a trip down to Tulsa and Arkansas. There, without any practice at all, they dropped their first contest to Tulsa, and came back the next day to fight to a 3-3 draw with Arkansas.

After the long trip, old man weather let the racketmen have a little practice before opening the season with a smashing 7-0 triumph over Tarkio. Washburn then squeezed past the Omahans, but Peru State Teachers, Drake, and Maryville Teachers soon fell before the West Dodge powerhouse. Morningside filled in a late date on Omaha's sched-

Baseballers meet Redmen

Fresh from a successful road trip, the Omaha baseball nine will take on Simpson tonight. They will then stay at home to meet Iowa Teachers in a double header Friday and Saturday.

The Indians were scheduled to play the Redmen of Simpson on Apr. 28, but the old bugaboo, rain, washed the contest out.

The OU squad did, however, play the Tutors twice, although they would probably like to forget it. The Teachers nipped OU in a pair of close ones, 2-1 and 7-5, on May 4, 5.

In those two contests, the Indians played and hit well, but ruined their chances with one bad inning each game. So the team could very easily dump the Tutors on OU's home ground.

In the latest averages released by the athletic department, Larry Micheels was the leading Omaha hitter, with five hits in ten tries, for a .500 mark. Bugs Redden was close behind with a good .409. Bugs has nine hits for 22 trips to the plate.

Outfielder Bill Duffack has five for 15, for a .333 rank, and Pitcher Bob Offerjost followed with four in 13, or .308.

Bob Murray was hitting .271, Don Claussen .261 and Andy Marinkovich and Newell Breyfogle, both .250.

Micheels, listed as an outfielder and pitcher, has been used most of the time on third base. The switch has proved very good, because "Mike" has been hitting well and fielding near-perfectly.

ult, and got trampled 7-0. Drake again was clobbered, and Coach Pritchard's men lowered the boom a second time upon Morningside and Peru Teachers by a lopsided 5-0 score.

Pritchard is already looking toward next year with anticipation, for all of his prodigies are eligible for the coming season. He has submitted the names of his five regulars to Virgil Yelkin for letters, and if they are okayed, Fred Pisasale, Tom Burke, Don Blocker, Dale Womer, and Brendon Gallagher will be lettermen.

Pisasale was the number one man for the team this season. Fred lost only match that to Dick Mechem of Washburn in the regular games. Pisasale had little trouble with other foes.

Burke was number two man and teamed with Pisasale in all important doubles matches. Tom also had little difficulty with his opponents.

Newcomers Blocker and Gallagher performed well for Coach Pritchard's squad. Blocker has a good style and back hand, while Gallagher is very aggressive.

Womer got his first big chance this year and looked good in each performance. Despite his size, Dale moves around quite well, and drives shots from any direction.

Omaha ties in 12 inning deadlock

The Indian baseballers completed their weekend road trip without losing a game, although the last one ended in a tie, with South Dakota State.

Saturday night Omaha played the Brookings, S. Dak., squad to a 4-4, 12-inning standstill. The Indians had previously blanked Morningside and dumped the Sodaks on Friday.

A total of five pitchers were used in the game, three by Omaha. Bud Bridenbaugh, Lynn Hooten and Bob Offerjost gave up 16 hits and seven walks to the home team, while striking out eight.

Behind until the eighth inning, the Indians combined walks to Bugs Redden and Johnny Potts and a single by Don Maseman for two runs and a 4-3 lead. The Sodaks, however, tied in their half of the inning on two singles and a stolen base.

Potts, Maseman and Jim Danze rapped doubles for Omaha, with Maseman hitting three-for-five. Larry Micheels again hit well for the Indians with two hits in five trips.

The Omaha team thus brought its record to three wins, five losses and one tie. The total of nine games played is almost lost within the staggering total of rained-out contests. Most recently, the team was to have played Buena Vista at the beginning of the road trip, before going to Morningside Friday.

Also rained out last week was a game with Nebraska Wesleyan, scheduled for Tuesday, then re-scheduled for Wednesday, and postponed both times.

Long ride fails to slow OU sluggers

After dumping Morningside Friday afternoon, the OU baseball team completed a sweep of their 160 mile double-header by hitting South Dakota State, 4-1. The Indians road 160-miles in uniform between games.

Pitcher Bob Offerjost gained sweet revenge in limiting the Sodaks to five hits. Last the South Dakotans beat Offerjost, 3-2, for the only Indian loss.

The Indians played good percentage baseball, as they scored one run in each of the third, fourth, fifth and ninth innings. Bill Duffack got the first of his two singles in the third, was sacrificed to second, stole third and scored on a fly ball.

Johnny Potts followed the same pattern to score in the fourth, the only difference being that he scored on Duffack's second single.

Consecutive singles by Bugs Redden, Don Claussen and Don Maseman did the same thing to bring a score in the ninth.

Duffack, Redden, Murray, Maseman and Potts each hit twice for the Indians. Claussen and Murray collected doubles.

Offerjost was masterful as he walked only three, while whiffing 16 Sodak batters. The two teams met again Saturday.

Lack of depth keeps track team from win at Simpson

Again, the lack of depth forced the OU track team to be content with second place. This time it was the Simpson track meet on the Indianola, Ia., oval.

Simpson won their own meet, as the Redmen rolled up 75½ points to 60½ for the Indians. Central College of Iowa came in third with 36 counters.

by Bob Peck

The Omaha team captured six firsts, but the lack of depth was the factor that beat the OU crew. The meet was scored on a 5-3-2-1 basis.

Bernie Anderson and Joe Nalty were doubles winners for the Indians, as Anderson took first in both the mile and the half mile. Nalty, as usual, swept the hundred yard dash, and the 220. He took the century in .10 flat.

Dick Christie was the work-horse for the Indians, as he placed in four events, and added 18 points to the Omaha total. Christie won the discus with a heave of 134 ft. 8¼ in. It was his best in competition this season. He also added a second in the shot, a second in the javelin and a tie for third in the high jump.

Charlie Anderson scored 10 individual counters, as he won the shot with a put of 42 ft 7 in., a second in the discus and a third in the javelin.

Nalty accounted for 10½ points, and Bernie Anderson contributed 10½ to the Omaha total, to round out the top four Omaha scorers.

These four boys together accounted for 43½ of the Omaha score by themselves.

Bob Grau took second in the hundred-yard dash, and fourth in the low hurdles. Ron Woodie took third in the lows, and fourth in the high hurdles.

Lorella Alford tied with Christie in the high jump and took third in the pole vault. Doug Alford tied for fourth in the vault, and also took fourth in the half mile.

Jack Peterson also got in on the scoring, as he came in fourth in the 440.

Two men missing

The mile relay team took third, and the 880 relay team came in second to round out OU scoring.

It was the last meet for the season, and Coach Lloyd Cardwell pointed out that it would have been a close meet if Keith Christie and Larry "Ed" Johnson could have made the trip.

'Mural golf, tennis meets move ahead

Bob Smith of ISA is the only man in the intramural golf meet who has moved into the fourth, or semifinal, round.

Six other players are in the third round, with one match to play before moving into the semifinals. Bob Moscrey is scheduled to play Jack Goodrich. Both are from ISA.

Art Bodette, also of ISA, will meet Theta Chi Arnie Kreigler, and Burt McMillan, Sig Ep, plays John Hautzinger, unaffiliated.

In the tennis tournament, Jim Townsend, Sig Ep, Don Chase, Theta Phi Delta, and Gary Anderson, also Theta, have moved into the third round of the meet.

'Mural director Ernie Gorr hopes that all matches will be played by the deadline dates. Gorr also announced that some of the 'mural softball games would be played over the weekend.

Weather finally permits spring team advances

When the weather finally let OU's teams do some practicing and playing, the records began to look better and better.

The tennis team turned out one of its best records, losing only once during the regular season. And Coach George Pritchard expects all of his five regulars to be back next year!

The golf team, although not the master of all of their opponents, nevertheless showed up very well. Four of the six losses were to Big Seven teams. Two were to Nebraska and one each to Kansas and Colorado.

Ace Bob Lindberg is only a sophomore, while Bob Russell and Bob Murray are juniors. Gordon Severa graduates this spring. And don't forget Garth Lof, who has done very well this season.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell's tracksters have won a good many first places this year, but the lack of depth has hurt their chances for championships. The squad, however, did bring home the first track trophy in a good many years.

The fortunes of the baseball team depended upon the weather, the squad has grabbed off wins in nearly all of its last few games.

Golfers end season on eight win mark

Another spring sport has come to a successful closing. Coach John Campbell's golfers ended with a reputable 8-6 season's record in extremely tough competition.

The linksmen didn't start off the season on too happy of a note. They played two quick matches with Nebraska, losing the first one 17½-½, and faring no better as they dropped their second contest to the Lincolmites by a 15½-5½ margin.

Most of the matches they lost were to Big Seven competition. Kansas finished off the Omahans 15-8, but the Red and Black started hitting their strides as they took a triangular meet from Doane and Washburn. Nebraska Wesleyan felt the sting of an improved Omaha squad as they had no luck against the Injuns. Wichita University made its debut in the spring sport by falling to the Indians, and Midland had no chance at all, being beaten 15-0. One of the turnabouts handed to the Omahans happened after the Indians trounced Morningside here, but traveled to the Maroon links to be beaten just as badly.

Along with tennis, the golf schedule did not suffer too much at the hands of the weatherman, as the two sports do not require absolute dry ground.

Omicron Delta Kappa and Waokiya, senior honorary organizations, tapped 19 new members Thursday night at the campus sing which they both sponsored. This was the first sing where new members were tapped. The next tapping will take place in the fall.

Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary national leadership society for senior men, will hold formal initiation ceremonies for the 13 new members of the organization this afternoon at 4 p. m. in room 100.

A banquet will follow the initiation at 6 p. m. also in room 100. President Gordon Severa will preside.

The 13 new members, tapped at last Thursday's all-school sing, are Donald Badger, John Baldwin, James Daley, Berkley Forsythe, Stanley Hagstrom and Roland Klopffleisch. Others new ODK's are George Marling, Fred Pisasale, Gerald Roitstein, Paul Saltzman, Ralph Selby, Herbert Sklenar and Ben Tobias.

Lead on campus

The new ODK's are leaders in many of the various campus activities.

Donald Badger's major field is publications. He was a Gateway reporter for one year, and was recently appointed Editor in Chief of the 1952 Tomahawk.

John Baldwin has been a member of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary group, for three years and served as treasurer of that group. He is also active in Gamma Pi Sigma and the OU Chemistry Club. Baldwin also served as sergeant at arms of Phi Sigma Phi.

James Daley, past secretary and past president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, is a member of Theta Phi Delta. He is also a member of Alpha Psi Omega, and was president of University Players. Daley was co-chairman of 1951 Greek Week and has appeared in four play productions and the Tom Tom Revue.

Active in the field of publications, Berkley Forsythe has been a Gateway feature editor and photo editor, a Tomahawk staff member, and a representative on the Board of Student Publications. He is a scholarship holder and a past secretary of Phi Eta Sigma. Forsythe has been a Tom Tom Revue director and has appeared in several University Players' productions.

On Honor Roll

Stanley Hagstrom is a member of the Chemistry Club and Gamma Pi Sigma. He served as a Vocations Day seminar chairman, and has also been on the Deans' Honor Roll.

Roland Klopffleisch is a member of the University Chorus and Band, and was music director the 1950 Tom Tom Revue. He also appeared in the recent music convocation and was featured soloist at the last band concert.

George Marling, a holder of a university scholarship, is past president of Phi Eta Sigma. He has also served as treasurer and president of Theta Chi. Marling was also a student member of the committee for the recent mill levy campaign.

Fred Pisasale's major activity is sports. He has earned varsity letters in wrestling and tennis, and holds a "B" team award.

Waokiya, honorary leadership society for junior and senior women, initiated their six new members Friday afternoon. The ceremonies took place at 4 p. m. in the Faculty Clubroom. A banquet followed at 5:30 p. m., also in the clubroom.

The junior women who were tapped at the all-school sing last Thursday night on the front steps of the university. They are Patricia Doyle, Doris Hanson, Nancy Hileman, Nancy Jones, Judith Swafford and June Williams.

The initiation was conducted by Waokiya President Sally Step and Faculty Members Mrs. Mary Padou Young, Miss Margaret Killian, Mrs. Mildred Gearhart and Miss Nell Ward.

Next year's officers were elected following the ceremonies. Miss Williams was elected president of Waokiya. Other new officers include Miss Hanson, vice president; Miss Doyle, student secretary, and Mrs. Gearhart, faculty treasurer. The members also elected a new faculty member who will be tapped by the organization next fall. The next tapping for new members will take place in the fall.

Present corsage

After the banquet, Suzanne Nelson presented Miss Gertrude Kincaide, faculty member of the society, with a corsage. Miss Kincaide is retiring from teaching after 22 years of service. The new members also gave a skit on a mock Waokiya initiation.

The new Waokiya members are active in all phases of campus life.

Patricia Doyle was recently elected national president of the college clubs division of the American Home Economics Association. She has also served as head of the OU Home Ec Club. Miss Doyle is a holder of a University Honor Scholarship and member of Corinthians. She is past treasurer and present senior advisor for Alpha Lambda Delta, national honor society for freshman women.

In the field of publications, Doris Hanson has served as Associate Editor of the Tomahawk. She has also worked on the copy desk of the Gateway and is now assistant society editor. Miss Hanson is vice president and ex-pledge mistress of Chi Omega. She is also a representative on the Pan-Hellenic Council. She held a Regent's Scholarship for three semesters and is past secretary of Alpha Lambda Delta. She will also serve as a commencement usher in June.

Active at OU

Nancy Hileman is OU's 1951 Junior Prom Queen. She is president of Zeta Tau Alpha and vice president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. Miss Hileman is active in the music fields at the university and is a member of Kappa Lambda Mu, music sorority. She also participates in sports and is a member of Feathers, women's pep organization.
